It is with both respect and regret that I announce the retirement of Trackmobile's longtime Engineering Manager, Bob Evans, effective February 1, 2021. While Bob will be missed by all, we celebrate the beginning of the next chapter of his life and wish him a happy, well-earned retirement. With his entire 31-year career spent at Trackmobile, Bob has been pivotal to the company's success. His technical expertise, problem-solving skills, and drive to improve product performance have been invaluable assets that will not be easily substituted.

While Bob leaves big shoes to fill, we are also confident that we have identified the right person step into them. Effective January 1, 2021, Mike Reaves will assume the responsibilities of Engineering Manager. Mike's 20+ years of experience managing domestic and international engineering departments will be an asset for Trackmobile and the Global Railcar Mover Group as we continue to expand our products and services to meet our global customers' needs.

Please join me in wishing Bob a prosperous retirement and congratulating Mike on his new role with the GRMG.
